Introduction

As a freelancing web developer and programmer, the ability to impact lives in a positive way is a huge driving factor in my personality. Adaptability, diligence, and the ability to learn on the fly quickly are some of the skills I have been able to learn by pursuing this healthy hobby. Before deep diving into web development, I've spent time learning important people skills with customer service and management positions. When possible, working smarter instead of harder is a philosophy I truly embody, as I hope to eventually use my computer hobbies to affect positive change within a company I work for or client that I represent.

Experience

Server, Daiquiri Barn; College Station, Tx - Aug 2019 - Nov 2019

At Daiquiri Barn, I used my alcohol sellers completion to make and serve beverages in a bar setting, and the drive through location. The job also doubled as a cashier and stocking position, as I handled most of the backstocking upkeep and general store upkeep.

Client Care Senior, RokRbox; College Station, Tx - July 2018 - April 2019

Rokrbox is a start up company in College Station. The CEO is an Aggie graduate, and it is a very young fluctuating business. As a Client Care Senior, I on the spot coached up new representatives, and handled high priority clients. Rokrbox handles potential home buyers in certain areas, and connects them with licensed real estate agents over the phone. It is a call center specializing in customer service and professionalism for realtors needing clients.

Manager In Charge, HEB; La Grange, Tx - Nov 2015- Nov 2017

My time at HEB was a big part in my life. Right after graduating from La Grange High School, I stayed in my small hometown and was promoted to Coverage MIC. As the manager in charge, I relieved salaried managers and closed the entire store 5 nights a week, as the highest position of responsibility left during the closing shifts. My responsibilities included; closing of the entire store, making sure daily departmental goals were met, while handling any spontaneous events that occurred to other employees or customers, where conventional training failed. It was great experience, but feeling as my youth and life experiences were limited, I decided to leave my position and hometown to experience college and life away from home.

Education

La Grange High School, La Grange, Texas - 2015

Blinn College, College Station, Texas - 2018-Present

Skills

I am experienced in several computer science based technologies, including front-end web development like HTML, CSS, and some Javascript. I know several back-end coding languages including; java, c++ and specializing in python. My knowledge also extends to python web building framework extensions like django and bootstrap. I have multiple years of experience in customer service, along with a few years of management experience at my time with HEB. I am a fast learner, problem solver, and self starter. My ability to adapt on the go is a skill that has helped me advance up quickly in many previous positions throughout my life.
